Project: „Everything flows“ (Fotomarathon)

What is a Fotomarathon?

- Competition under extreme circumstances: 12 hours. 12 topics. 12 individual themes. 12 photos.
- Every year the Berlin Fotomarathon stands under a special overall theme. This remains a secret until the start and it should be a guiding theme throughout the whole series.
- Ambiguous individual themes are given to the participants, and they put their creativity and interpretation to the test.
- Each individual theme is revealed during the Fotomarathon day itself.
- Photos must be made in the given order.
- Spontaneity, resourcefulness, perseverance and an ability to have fun are therefore all basic components for a successful photo series.
- At the end of a Fotomarathon day every series is a photo documentary of a unique summer day in Berlin.

Everything flows

Under this theme we partnered with the Club Fotomarathon Berlin in the Science Year 2016*17 – Seas and Oceans.

Cities are marked by water – rivers are veins of life, ice times scarred the surface.

We will visit areas in the city that speak to the importance of water.

Berlin on water? We say, Berlin is on the sea.

Station 1 (11:00 a.m.)

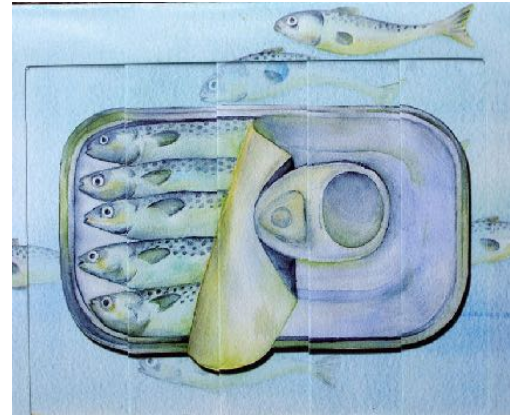

1

At the beginning,
